

Looking For A Man

The earth is looking for a man to guide this troubled world,
A man of strength and wisdom, who shall to all unfurl
His cause of men uniting, no more diversity,
No male or female distinctions, just perfect harmony.

Eradicate religion, there is no God to fear,
And liberties expression, be free for far and near
No more of God and Jesus, the Beast is lifted high,
Will be the central focus in that great bye and bye.

The earth will ring with laughter, rejecting God's decree,
No conscience be awakened, man will not bow his knee.
Then mocking God's great gospel, man sniggers at God's Hell,
Blindly accepts deception, in thinking all is well.

There sitting in the temple, the man of sin defames
The holy God of Heaven, satire's His glorious name.
He persecutes believers and slaughters all who dare
Uphold the name of Jesus, as Governor and Heir.

Then judgments come from God above, they flow so quick and fast,
The beast has now no answer, for he is seen at last
To be no more than mortal man, beneath God's righteous wrath,
And fast goes down to meet his doom, a non returning path.

The answer to this troubled world lies not with sin sick man,
For God is working out His own most perfect plan.
The Beast will be abolished, the Lord Himself shall reign,
And all the earth shall glorify the wonder of His name.

He then shall rule in righteousness, in sovereign majesty,
Political correctness gone, and everyone shall see
God's man, our Blessed Redeemer, shall sit upon His throne,
And all shall worship and adore Christ Jesus, Him alone.

*Rowan Jennings
April 2017*